Types of Members

The Association shall consist of the following classes of members:

- i) Ordinary Members – being the organisations which administer the affairs of a cemetery or crematorium in South Australia
 - ii) Associate Members – who are natural persons actively engaged in the operation of a cemetery or a crematorium or otherwise associated with the burial, cremation or associated industries and interests in South Australia or any local church responsible for control and management of a cemetery which is not controlled by a State branch of a religious body
 - iii) Corporate Members shall be persons or organisations within other industries, groups or sole individuals other than cemetery and crematoria management and/or staff.
 - iv) Life members shall be nominated by a member in recognition of their contribution to the burial and/or cremation industry in South Australia, whether retired or still active in service, and shall be considered and appointed by the Executive Committee.
- (b) All organisations who qualify for membership of the Association may become members by making written application to the Secretary and paying the membership subscription as determined from time to time in the manner hereinafter provided.
- (c) All Members and organisations applying for membership as aforesaid shall be deemed to have subscribed to the objects of the Association.
- (e) The Members of the Association are not partners.
- (g) All persons or organisations qualified for membership may become members of the Association by making written application to the Secretary and paying such membership subscription, if any, as may be determined from time to time in the manner hereinafter provided.
- (h) Corporate Membership shall be classified as Gold, Silver, Bronze or personal. Fees and benefits applying to this category of membership will be determined by the Executive Committee as appropriate from time to time. Corporate Membership shall be available to any corporation, business, or any interested party who makes an application, subject to the approval of the Executive Committee.
